

HIDE YOUR IDENTITY WHILE ONLINE

IDENTITY THEFT

Your identity is one of your most valuable assets.

Your name, address and date of birth provide enough information to create another 'you'.

If your identity is stolen they will then be able to open bank accounts, take out credit cards and apply for state benefits in your name.

How much personal information do you share on your social media profile pages?

Name, location, age, job role, marital status, your voice? The amount of information people are comfortable with posting online varies.

So, how would you feel if all your information was catalogued by a hacker and put into a database with millions of entries, to be sold online to the highest paying cyber-criminal?

Just in April 2021

- A hacker sold a database of around 500 million records scraped from LinkedIn website.
- Another hacker posted a database of scraped information from 1.3 million Clubhouse profiles on a forum for free.
- 533 million Facebook user details were compiled from a mixture of old and new scraping before being given away on a hacking forum with a request for donations.

In July 2021

A hacker calling himself Tom Liner compiled a database of 700 million LinkedIn users from all over the world, which he is was selling for around £3,600.

These databases are largely constructed by scraping the public-facing surface of Social Media sites using automatic programmes to take whatever information is freely available about users.

In 2022 there was a wave of “Hi Mum/Dad” scams on WhatsApp and by text messages in which the fraudsters claimed to be their children needing money urgently.

Artificial Intelligence (AI).

Now Security experts are worried about the use of Artificial Intelligence (AI).

Using AI scammers only need less than a 30 second clip of someone's voice to enable them to impersonate them.

These clips are taken from videos posted on Facebook, Instagram, TikTok, Twitter, YouTube and others.

The audio is feed into AI programmes such as Resemble, Prime Voice AI or Microsoft's 'VALL-E'.

The software creates a digital clone of the victim's voice.

The target is phoned and the required text is entered into the AI programme. With a click of a button the software reads out the text mimicking the voice of the victim.

Voice impersonation scams are still rare but they have a high success rate.

Many websites now ask for personal data that they don't really need.

So why not give some fake personal data instead of your real information?

Not only will it stop criminals and spammers obtaining your personal data, but it helps to limit your online digital footprint.

CONCEAL YOUR EMAIL ADDRESS

Disposable Email Address

GuerrillaMail: <https://www.guerrillamail.com/>
